Thought I'd try this addon out after a night of frequent whispers... it felt like I was being whispered every minute!
I'm glad I tried it... now with every whisper I get a single line notification with a quick link to send a GM ticket. It also has a button within your mail window to ticket a GM about mail spam.

It really is good. After quite a long time of looking at the blocked messages I decided that the rate at which it mistags messages as spam was low enough that I turned off all notifications. It never mistagged direct tells as spam – just people hawking their AH goods in the cities which I'm not interested in anyway.

I don't report the messages anymore – I did once and got a 5 minute conversation with a GM about. I don't want that! :)
