

Re: Yes, Ditech.com does suck!

Source: <http://newsgroups.derkeiler.com/Archive/Misc/misc.consumers/2005-09/msg00305.html>

- From: "Mortimer Schnurd" <Mort@xxxxxxxx>
 - Date: Tue, 06 Sep 2005 04:36:23 GMT
-

"J. Cameron Davis" <camdavis@xxxxxxxx> wrote in message news:fY8Te.312398\$o.16185@xxxxxxxxxxxxxx

> I've figured it out. After a really bad experience with the loan company > from hell, Ditech, I've concluded that they really do suck. Their loan > agents were rude and tired to aggressively pressure me into accepting the > terms of a home equity line of credit. I didn't understand the terms of > the arrangement. Instead of answering my questions I got responses like "I > don't like to have my time wasted" and "We already discussed that. Why do > you need to ask about it again?" I left voice mail messages for two > managers several times, and the calls were never returned. They quoted a > high interest rate for the line of credit, said it was based on their > research and appraisal, but then refused to allow me to have a copy of any > of that information. So, there was no way I could dispute the interest > rate. This truly is a pathetic excuse for a loan company. My advice is to > avoid them like the plague.
>

Your FIRST clue should be the aggressive TV advertising. ANY company that has a good/great rate would have lots of "Word of Mouth" advertising and local recommendations.

You ARE correct.....(in my opinion) DiTech SUCKS EGGS!
check out www.ripoffreport.com for more inputs.

• References:

- ◆ Yes, Ditech.com does suck!

◇ From: J. Cameron Davis

- Prev by Date: Yes, Ditech.com does suck!
- Next by Date: Re: Katrina-Where is the help?-people are dying and starving
- Previous by thread: Yes, Ditech.com does suck!
- Next by thread: Re: Yes, Ditech.com does suck!
- Index(es):

Re: Yes, Ditech.com does suck!

- ◆ Date
- ◆ Thread