Testor TS2024 in the Model Master II range is supposed to match FS 34031 according to the listing at Squadron Shop's website.

Xtracolor X153 is the gloss version of this color (14031) which would be useful if you will be applying any decals. The matte color is X152, I believe.

AFAIK, neither Humbrol nor Revell match this color. It's a darn difficult color to match. Even under daylight, the color seems to change. For me, under sunlight, it looks black. When the sky is cloud-covered, it looks more green.

Sounds like it would be near-perfect for a GG1 in PRR trim. (That's an electric railroad engine for the unknowing.)
