Let me put it another

Well I'm quite a bit older than you young USTA fuk yer buddies.....sooooooooooooo it goes like this:::::::::: "DO

DO!!"-----wippersnappers

So, just because you are a certain age, this lends credence to the idea that people should jump their gear until it's jumped out and then

Re: skydiving pregnant bury it – unless they are of a certain age in which case, this creed still stands as an absolute but only an absolute for those younger than yourself.

Nope, no kingsX because you think some sorta age affords some sort of legitimacy. You are the poster-child for the realistic concept that even people who might have reached a certain age can still be jackasses, if not hypocrites.

And, on the note of "doing as one says, not as one does," and being "a bit older" allowing for this brand of hypocrisy, there is the idea of someone being "old" should know better than to use age as an excuse.
Certainly for excusing hypocrisy.

bit older? sucking up won't git you a lower USTA number ya brown noser,

"Bit older," was quoting your words, dipshit.

matter of fact I'm giving that other urban twit Biggy a lower number than you Mr. suckass.
Biggyjims # is Whooppy shit and more power to ya if it makes you feel beter about yourself. You're still a hypocrite. As a matter of fact, another Special Olympics medal for ya, Jinnie. You're still retarded.

And you have a higher number than a junior florida skydiver now, that make you a novice or what?

Who cares? It's your own little label w/number as a (supposed) means of fuckwith. And, on that note, Junior, you do remember that the US Navy is not the senior service, eh? Think I might have to start calling you "Junnie instead of Jinnie or do still prefer Jinnie?
