Hi group,

I recently sold a usb dongle on ebay the auction finished last night at 11pm ish, sent buyer an invoice.

It has not been paid for yet, I know its still early days, but most people pay fairly quickly.

Just wondering what is a reasonable amount of time to wait for ?

My listing didn't specify a pay up time limit, so just wondering really how long you wait before you report them as a non paying bidder I think its called.

Yesterday being Saturday, it just may be possible that they have gone away for the week-end. I know that this may seem odd but it would seem that some people do indeed not sit by their computer waiting for an auction to end to make an immediate payment.

I fully understand that. I was just wondering what a reasonable amount of time is to wait for a payment, thats all.
