

Re: Lumps

Source: <http://newsgroups.derkeiler.com/Archive/Uk/uk.rec.equestrian/2008-05/msg00015.html>

- From: "Alison Coote" <deeache97@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx>
 - Date: Tue, 6 May 2008 08:16:25 +0100
-

"amaryliss" <fetlock100@xxxxxxxx> wrote in message
news:fvnrrv\$114\$1@xxxxxxxx

Nikki Overton wrote:

Hi there,

I'm glad to hear that you have found your perfect horse!

Regarding the lump on your mare's fetlock, could it be that she has knocked it or it is a scabby growth?. We have had an unbelievably wet winter and I was just thinking that she might has a mud-fever scab under the fur?

Or it could be a cyst of some description?? Does it hurt her in any way as far as you can tell?

Nik & The Zoo xxx

Thanks for all the replys !!

The lump has been there for quite along time now,it hard, its like shes got half a marble under her skin !?

Thanks

I think your best bet is to get the vet to take a look. You could also ask their opinion (& price!) about gelding the shetland.
Alison.